Red Cross Disaster Relief Committees Present Reports at Meeting

FINE CO-OPERATION

Registration, Shelter, Feeding, Clothing, Medical Care, Etc., Are Arranged

The Bristol Red Cross Disaster Relief Committee met last evening in Red Cross headquarters, 120 Mill street, to discuss plans for any disaster work that might be needed, and at that time plans of individual committees were discussed.

The Red Cross is, in this work, carrying out the duty imposed upon it in the charter granted by the United States government, which states that the Red Cross "is to continue and to carry on a system of national and international relief in time of peace, and to apply the same in mitigating the sufferings caused by pestilence, famine, fire, floods and other national calamities, and to devise and carry on measures for preventing the same."

Eighteen were present, representing the various committees, with Chauncey Stoneback, Jr., chairman of the Bristol Red Cross Disaster Committee, presiding.

Dr. William C. LeCompte reported a session of the medical aid committee, which consists of 12 local physicians. This group has made plans as to how it will function in emergency, using the local hospitals to their capacities, necessary. The Harriman Hospital can then setting up emergency hospitals if accommodate a maximum of 100; and the Wagner private hospital approximately 50. The plan is to use if needed other public buildings, and 1000 can thus be hospitalized in the community, stated Dr. LeCompte.

Dr. George Hussey, reporting for the dental committee, which consists of four dentists, stated the group will co-operate with physicians, and render any emergency dental work necessary. "In disasters there are usually many jaw fractures, and we find the local hospitals are well equipped to care for treatment of such," he stated.

MacArthur Hurls Back the Japs

Washington—Gen. Douglas MacArthur's heroic defenders of Luzon today hurled back attacking Japanese forces with heavy losses in a fierce artillery battle that proved the American batteries "definitely superior to those of the enemy."

The vigorous defense of MacArthur's army forced the attacking Japanese to withdraw its invading forces from positions "formerly occupied."

The War Department disclosed that the initial all out offensive by the Japanese has been definitely stopped and forced back with terrific losses.

The communique said that enemy tanks, armored units and infantry concentrations "were shattered." American and Filipino losses were described as "relatively slight."

Eleven Japanese batteries were silenced in the hail of shot and shell.

The communique said:

"Philippine Theatre—In 24 hours of continuous artillery fighting American and Philippine batteries proved definitely superior to those of the Japanese. Columns of enemy tanks and other armored units, as well as infantry concentrations, were shattered and dispersed by our fire, with heavy Japanese losses."

Silent About Singapore

London—British military authorities maintained silence today over Singapore reports hinting that some new, sensational development is pending in the Malayan war theatre.

First hint that something new is on the fire was contained in a Reuters Singapore dispatch, which said:

TELLS OF PREPARATIONS MADE ON WESTERN COAST

Private Joseph J. Buss Writes of Activities at McChord Field, Wash.

SLEEPING IN TENTS

Private Joseph J. Buss, a resident of Bristol who is located at McChord Field, State of Washington, writes as follows from the base of the 505th Signal Aircraft Warning Regiment there:

Editor of The Courier,
Bristol, Pa.

Dear Sir:

It may please you to know that your paper is highly regarded as a medium of contact with our many Bristol friends.

Reading of Bristol's precautionary set-up, in any event of an air attack, it may prove interesting for you to know how any such attack is anticipated at an army airbase. Our particular regiment plays an important part, as outposts are located along north-west coastline, and when a plane is detected, whether it be friend or foe, information is immediately flashed to base headquarters. Civilians are warned of making any false reports, and rumors are quickly disposed of, with the efficiency of modern detection facilities.

One long blast of the siren is the signal for alertness; three short blasts, repeated, is attack imminent, and everyone is instructed to take cover, preferably in an open field. Being well separated is another point which is stressed. Basements of soundly constructed buildings are also authorized. Three long blasts indicates "all clear."

Gas and chemical warfare is also prepared for, and each company has its own simplified alarm, consisting of an automobile tire rim, which when struck, gives off a very definite sound. Due care is taken in any unnecessary use of the gas masks, as air filters are only good for 48 hours. Masks and helmets are carried by all personnel.

Water tanks similar to your own, and other metal buildings, are well protected by sandbags, and trenches and dugouts are as numerous as side-walks. Hangars and anti-aircraft guns are camouflaged, as well as other equipment.

No one is allowed to leave the post, unless a pass is secured, and these are about as rare as icebergs in the Delaware. When such a pass is given, six hours is the limit. Tacoma is usually the specified destination on all passes.

Getting up in the morning in a cold tent is not a very pleasant task, but an hour of calisthenics in the brisk wind blowing off Mt. Ranier, soon warms you up to your day's duty; and morale is surprisingly high among men, considering our living conditions.

Sincerely,

PVT. JOSEPH J. BUSS.

Give Ruling Concerning Lighting of Store Windows

The question of illuminated display windows in stores has caused the Bristol Council of Civilian Defense considerable concern, and has created a serious problem to provide for it in case of air raids.

The following plan will be effective immediately by order of the Council of Defense of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, and last for the period of the emergency:

No store windows should be illuminated at night unless—

(1) There is on duty within the establishment a night watchman who will immediately extinguish the window lights when the alarm is sounded. Or

(2) The store owner or operator installs an approved outside cut-off switch placed in a conspicuous and accessible location and lighted if necessary.

This must be attended to at once.

Man Should Put God's Business First, Says Preacher

EMILIE, Jan. 13—A Christian should not only desire to see the face of Christ but should want Him to say "Well done, good and faithful servant." This was the general theme of a message delivered in Emille Methodist Church, last evening, by Dr. Harold St. C. Carter, pastor of Fletcher Methodist Church, Philadelphia. He used for his text part of the 5th verse of the 8th chapter of Second Corinthians—"And thus they did, not as we hoped, but first gave their own selves to the Lord."

Dr. Carter was the speaker at the January meeting of the Men's Christian Fellowship League of Lower Bucks County.

Continuing, Dr. Carter said: "There are only two ways for a man to live—selfishly or for Christ. As a man gets older, he should live—let, not for this life alone and the worldly things about him; he should not allow the sorrows of life and the evils of the world to control him; and 2nd, work for something everlasting, put God's business first, not second, third, fourth, or at his convenience. God's work needs not more people but people of a better brand. Put God's work first—at whatever it costs. Give your own self."

At the brief business meeting which opened the meeting, Howard Smoyer, Bristol, presided.

Arthur Seyfert, Edgely, sang two numbers, "Lead Me to Calvary" and "Crown Him With Many Crowns."

Following the meeting, a social time was enjoyed, followed by refreshments.

The next meeting of the Fellowship will be held on February 9th, in Langhorne Methodist Church; and the March meeting will be held on the 9th, in Trenton City Mission.

Thirteen Tables Filled At C. D. of A. Card Party

The Catholic Daughters of America held a card party Saturday evening in the K. of C. Home, with Mrs. James Cullen as chairman. There were 13 tables of players, and prizes were awarded winners.

High scores in pinocle were won by Mrs. Margaret Murphy, 835; Miss Frances McFadden, 754; Mrs. P. Wilson, 752; Mrs. B. Anderson, 744; F. M. Pope, 742; in "500," Miss Hannah Boyle, 2560; Miss M. Sackville, 2290. Refreshments were served.

Borough Council organized last night by the election of officers for the ensuing two year period, considered the proposed budget for 1942, awarded the contract for the collection of ashes and rubbish and granted a ten per cent wage increase to all employees of the Borough as of January 1, 1942.

There was general disagreement with the proposed budget as submitted by the Finance Committee and after considerable discussion the proposed tax rate as carried in the budget was sliced from 13 mills to 11 mills. The rate during 1941 was 11 mills but the budget submitted last night by the Finance Committee carried an increase of two mills. The difference in the amount of tax revenue which would be raised by the additional two mills is to be made up by taking an additional $15,000 from the funds of the Water Department.

Following the reading of the proposed budget which carries with it an ordinance levying the tax rate, several of the councilmen who were re-elected in November on a platform of low tax rate and economy in the management of the borough's affairs, protested over the proposed increase of two mills in the tax rate.

Louis C. Spring and William H. Pearson, councilmen from the second and sixth wards respectively, were the first to protest. Councilman Pearson inquired "Is now the suitable time to object and not wait until the next meeting of Council when the budget will come up for final approval?"

Councilman Spring stated that he and others had sought re-election to the office of councilman on a platform of low tax rate and that the rate had been lowered last year and it was his contention that if the rate is raised now, that his constituents would think that he was not consistent and that the lowering of the tax rate last year was only a political trick.

"You have taken $25,000 from the funds of the Water Department. Why not take $15,000 more which would just about equal the tax revenue which the additional two mills would bring in."

Mr. Spring, who is chairman of the Water Committee which operates the Water Department of the Borough, stated that he believed that the receipts of the Department would show a substantial increase this year as "we are getting a number of new customers. We have about 130 new customers in the Township and about 40 new ones in the Borough," he said.

"Why burden the poor man with an increase of two mills in a year when he is going to have to pay more for food, have to buy bonds and many who have never before paid income taxes will have to do so this year? Why work a hardship on them?" inquired the Councilman from the Second Ward.

Councilman Roche, Fourth Ward, joined Mr. Spring in voicing a protest over the proposed tax increase and asked "Why does the Finance Committee object to taking this money from the Water Department?"

The Councilman from the Second Ward, William H. Warner, was the next one to add a protest and stated "our water rates are reasonable" when it was suggested that a reduction in water rates should be made rather than taking the surplus from that Department and applying it to the general funds of the borough, thus permitting a lower tax rate.

Dr. J. Fred Wagner, President of Council, informed Council that many of the water users were residents

ON THE HOME FRONT

Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes reappears in the news with the announcement that he does not think gasoline rationing will be necessary, intimating that he thinks lack of tires will cut down consumption of gasoline. The Secretary ordered a speed limit of forty miles an hour in all national parks, and while he emphasized that he was not advising states what to do, he thought it would be a good idea to enforce a similar speed limit in state parks to conserve gasoline.

Whisky distillers have been ordered by the OPM to cut production of potable spirits by 60 per cent, to conserve sugar and to make facilities available for the production of industrial alcohol needed by the war effort.

United States tax stamps on automobiles will go on sale January 26 in post offices and Federal internal revenue offices throughout the nation. Under a new law, one of these stamps must be affixed to every automobile. Cars parked in garages for lack of tires are not exempt. The tax is $5 a year per car, but the stamps which must be affixed by February 1 will cost $2.09 and will be good until July 1, the beginning of the government's new fiscal year.

The OPM told a meeting of the newly-formed dairy industries committee that it favors every-other-day delivery as this would conserve 40 to 50 per cent of the rubber now used in truck tires, save large quantities of gasoline and prolong the life of delivery vehicles.

Dairies, stores and other retail businesses cannot buy tires under the rationing plan. Wholesalers and manufacturers delivering goods to retail outlets can buy them.

THE JAP MIND

There is a strong probability that before the United States is finished with Japan expanded in sight into the mental processes of its peculiar people may come to Americans. Almost a century of contact with the Japs has not been revealing. Intellectually they appear to have added little to the world's store of wisdom.

Recently a student in New York compiled a number of Japanese folk sayings. Some that he presented were familiar, but others were not. If power of epigram is shown sharply in the Japanese brain it is in the comment on liquor: "First the man takes the drink; then the drink takes the man."

Much of epigrammatic offering by Japan is acid and packs a sneer and in that respect may disclose a national attitude of mind. One old saying is: "Who can speak well can lie well." Another: "He who steals gold is put in prison; he who steals land is made a king."

Many of the proverbs are quite commonplace. One runs: "A journey of a thousand miles begins with one step." Another says: "Cold tea and cold rice may be endured, but not cold looks and words." Another reads: "He who hunts two horses leaves one and loses the other."

And there is one Japanese proverb that the foolishly Nipponese are to re-learn shortly, to wit: "It is difficult to be strong and not rash."

Chinese forces claim to have killed 50,000 Japs in three days. Either the Chinese fight when they fight, or they propagandize when they propagandize.

"THURSDAY'S CHILD" by VERA BROWN

FROM THE OLD RHYME: "THURSDAY'S CHILD HAS FAR TO GO"

CHAPTER THIRTY-TWO

Rene came to take them to his mother at noon. He led them with much pomp and ceremony down to the parlor where the Countess was waiting.

Dressed in stiff black silk, she sat in state, a dour woman with brilliant black eyes like Rene's, and a lovely smile, as they were to discover shortly.

"Welcome," she said. Sonny was glad her French was adequate. But she explained she had not been speaking it long.

The Countess was complimentary. She made them welcome. Her eyes rarely left her son and it was plain she adored him. And no wonder. He was very deferential to her, and Sonny liked him much better here, in his home, than she had before.

Lucienne was a formal affair. Rene commented on the new butler, an old man.

The Countess's face was suddenly bleak. "Jacques was called to his regiment, Rene."

Sonny's eyes were on her face. "There will be war?"

The Countess shrugged her shoulders. "It is very difficult these days. I have lived through two wars. I can live through another." She did not add that the last one had taken her husband from her. But she suddenly seemed old and tired. Sonny's heart went out to her.

When lunch had ended, Countess de Duvergy rose. "Come with me, my dear," she addressed Sonny. "We must get better acquainted."

Meekly Sonny followed the dowager to her sitting-room.

The Countess settled herself with Sonny's help in a deep chair before an infinitesimal fire in the huge fireplace.

"Now come, sit here."

Leslie sat down near Rene's mother, in a chair placed so that the light fell on her face. The old woman scrutinized her for a long time, quite openly.

"I like you," she said at last.

A little taken back, Sonny was at a loss for words.

"Are you in love with my son?"

Something in the old woman's tender demanded a similar honesty.

"I'm not sure. I like him, tremendously."

"Good. An excellent basis for marriage. Love, my child, is a delusion. You Americans are prone to want it. I might say it is an American illusion based, I am afraid, largely on your moving pictures. I think you would be good for Rene. I think you would fit in here with me. I am a pretty spoiled old woman and I want my own way. I am devoted to my son. Most of all, I want his happiness."

She smiled a little quizzically as she added: "I think you need supervision. I could give that. Life here is very different from that which you know. We live by different standards. But we have found through the centuries that they are excellent. Divorce is unheard of in our family; not that we are any happier for it, but we are much more secure. That, as you grow older, becomes of paramount importance. What is ahead of us today, we do not know, but we have faith in the future."

The Countess paused. When she spoke again it was to ask: "You have much money?"

"Yes."

"But you're very young."

"I have a guardian."

"That may complicate things."

"I think he will agree to whatever plans I make."

"Good. Now we can dismiss that for the present. As yet, you do not know how you are going to like us, or how we are going to like you. Her smile took the harshness from her words. "But tell me about yourself, child."

"There isn't much to tell," Sonny began. "I'm nobody, or was nobody back home until I married."

She gave a brief outline of her life with the Hollisters. It was clear to the Countess that the family would not be sorry to see the last of the young woman who sat talking so seriously.

"It would probably be a good thing if you stayed on here, good for everybody," the Countess summed things up.

"I feel sure it would," Sonny tried to keep the bitterness out of her voice.

"But your own family?"

"I barely remember my mother, my father not at all."

The Countess accepted what she said, reading astutely between the lines. A little nebulous blood would not hurt her family, she thought.

And the girl was very lovely.

And so ended the first interview. Afterward they settled down into a quiet routine. Martha almost lost her mind. She managed to escape each morning and afternoon for long walks, to go on shopping expeditions, have grand but lonely luncheons in various gay restaurants.

As for Sonny, she and Rene played tennis or he took her to call on his friends. Now and then they dined with Martha. But when they did, they came home discreetly early and Rene often went out again alone, afterward.

Martha, watching Sonny, thought she appeared almost drugged with the existence. The Countess seemed to have complete power over her. Martha protested to Sonny, but the latter only shook her head. "I want to be sure. I'm happy here. She accepts me. I'm safe."

"It is insanity, Leslie. You'd break away in six months."

"No. This is what I want. Security and quiet."

Late in May, the first American clipper arrived from the States. Sonny heard the roar of its great motors and rushed out into the garden to watch as it swung over Paris. It was so low, she could see the American flag on the wings quite clearly. The sight filled her with longing for home, and tears came into her eyes.

The Clipper brought plenty of mail for Sonny. There was a letter from Carol, saying:

"I'm being hopelessly spoiled and I love it. You'd think nobody ever had a baby before. But what about yourself? I hear there is a real count who is rushing you. It's been in the columns several times."

"Are you ever coming home?"

I hate to think of you over there for always. Is there much war talk? The papers are full of it here.

"Kirk and Dick are working hard on a reorganization of the bank. Janice often comes to have dinner with mother and me when the men were kept in town."

"I'm terribly happy because of you."

The letters from home made Leslie quiet and thoughtful, Martha noted, and she was hopeful. But in a few days Sonny seemed to have forgotten.

One night, Rene took Sonny to the opera, chaperoned by Martha. From there they went to a night club. Watching some American tourists making merry, Rene remarked, "Terrible, aren't they?"

Sonny came to their defense with "They're really nice, Rene, but they don't know how to play. They've probably worked hard all their lives and never had much fun and that's what Paris means to them."

"But this is not Paris—" Rene's voice was full of scorn.

"No. I love your Paris, Rene. But I understand this, too."

His voice was brusque as he added: "I wish you didn't. It makes you seem very foreign."

Sonny was laughing at him. "You're afraid of losing me!"

He denied it, but her astuteness amused him. "Mother's teaching you a lot. She's very wise. What about it, Leslie? Do you think you can be happy here?"

"I'm sure I can."

When they got home, Rene asked Sonny to talk with him for a while. They went into the big, cold sitting room.

"I think we should be married this summer," Rene said, coming straight to the point. "I may be away—" he stopped.

"You mean the war may come?"

"Yes. It is better that we do not delay. I have talked it over with mother. Do you think I should write your guardian?"

"I think it would be wise for me to pave the way, Rene. I can handle the situation better. Then you can write when I've explained things."

He was satisfied with that.

When Sonny went up stairs, she tapped on Martha's door. The latter admitted her, and Sonny gazed in amazement. Clothes were spread all over the room!

"What in the world are you doing?" asked the girl.

"I'm packing," Martha explained. "I've been meaning to tell you. I can't stand this. Besides you don't need me any more. I'm going home, sailing in five days. I've written Kirk. Sonny, this is an impossible life for any American woman."

Sonny was speechless. The thought of Martha's desertion frightened her.

"Come with me, darling. Please! Leave this place. You can't live on here! I know it!"

Go home? Sonny's heart contracted. But she had no home. There was nothing for her back there.

"I'm staying," she said.

supplies. He told that a drug supply committeeman has been named for three sections of the community. Joseph Robbins, Croydon; Edward T. Finegan, in the sixth ward, and Mr. Fabian in the first ward.

The nursing committee report was given by Mrs. Louise Lohr, who has secured names of 24 registered nurses who are willing to serve in emergency, they working under supervision of the medical committee.

Chief of Police Linford J. Jones, for the shelter committee, stated there have been selected 11 places in the community where people can be housed in time of disaster. The committee know the cot capacity of each building, has information regarding the heating systems, whether both sexes can be housed in the buildings, and has listed those in charge of the buildings so they may be readily contacted. Cooking and toilet facilities have also been checked.

Mrs. Horace N. Davis, chairman of mass feeding committee, will co-operate closely with the 17 centers in the community which can be set up for feeding of refugees. These centers include churches, the Bristol high school and the Rohm & Haas Co. cafeteria, etc. For each center, Mrs. Davis has named five women, who are ready at any time to take over the feeding problem of groups. The Red Cross is planning, starting January 29th, to conduct a canteen course with instruction in mass feeding and nutrition.

Mrs. Clarence Meyer, chairman of clothing supplies, told the group that a survey throughout the borough showed the stock in stores is sufficient to cope with any emergency.

Franklin Wallin, chairman of information and registration, stated that his committee had met recently, mentioning that the group is prepared to register any refugees if the call comes.

The transportation committee chairman, Mrs. Russell W. DeLong, mentioned that that committee has listed a number of automobiles, trucks and station wagons, ready for emergency. She said that thus transportation of refugees to registration centers and shelters can be cared for.

Mrs. William DuHamel, chairman of communications, informed that she had been in touch with Western Union and with the Bell Telephone Company, and added that in any situation that might arise Red Cross messages will be sent through if lines are intact. She informed also that a list is in readiness giving names of Boy Scout leaders in the communities, together with addresses, and these are ready to aid. The Boy Scouts will be called into messenger service if needed. The Rev. George E. Boswell has been named as an additional member of this committee, she stated.

Jesse Carr, chairman of rescue committee, informed that the Bucks County Rescue Squad ambulances will be available for service if needed. The committee is also planning to use a number of people trained in first aid to help if rescue work is required. The committee will set up zones, he stated, having leaders in each zone.

John F. Wear, reporting for Edward Wallace, chairman of food committee, said there is a sufficient supply of food in the community to meet any emergency.

The shelter committee report was given by Livingston Joyce, speaking for John S. Roberts, Jr., chairman. This committee is also prepared.

Dr. J. Fred Wagner, a member of the medical aid committee, sent a message, that he is ready to co-operate, offering use of his hospital.

A RESOLUTION

WHEREAS, through the voluntary retirement of Doron Green as President of the Board of Directors of the Bristol Borough School District on the first day of December, A. D. 1941, there ended a period of service in the interest of the public schools of Bristol which, having begun more than forty-two years ago, is unique and without parallel in the annals of this school district, not only because of its length in years, but rather because of its magnitude in achievement;

WHEREAS, through his energetic participation in all the manifold activities of the School Board, particularly as chairman or a member of the Finance, Property, and other equally important Committees, from his first election to the office of Director, and, for the past twenty-six years, under his firm, capable leadership as President of the Board, the public schools of this community have witnessed unprecedented growth, not only in the number and improvement of school buildings and facilities, but also in the far more important development of their courses of study and methods of instruction;

WHEREAS, through his steadfast adherence to sound principles of financing and management, Doron Green safely and firmly guided the affairs and fortunes of this school district throughout the years, so that, despite depressions, despite war, despite all other dangers, this school district invariably was able to meet all its obligations without delay, establishing a lofty standard of honesty and dependability in public affairs overlastingly worthy of emulation; and

WHEREAS, throughout the years Doron Green applied himself steadfastly to the work of serving the public schools of this community, giving generously of the best of his time and ability, notwithstanding the constant sting of uninformed, unjust criticism, and thus revealed a devotion to the ideal of public service that should and will forever be an inspiration to those who follow him;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, that the Board of Directors of the Bristol Borough School District desires here and now to record its heartfelt gratitude to Doron Green for his faithful, devoted services to the public schools of Bristol and for his magnificent contribution to the advancement of education in this community; to express its deep regret that a service so rich, so full, and so freely given must needs have come to an end; and to extend to him the sincere wish that he may enjoy the years of his so well-deserved retirement in good health and happiness, in the knowledge that he has indeed earned for himself that highest of commendations: "Well done! thou good and faithful servant!"

PROFY "V" WINS 1ST-HALF CHAMPIONSHIP OF BRISTOL LEAGUE

Downs Fifth Ward Team By Score of 33-30; Extra-Period Match

2 GET DOUBLE-DECKERS

Warders Fight Uphill Battle To Erase Large Profy Lead In First Quarter

In one of the most thrilling and exciting games played on the Mutual Aid court this season, the Profy team won the first half championship of the Bristol Basketball League last night beating the Fifth Ward team, 33-30, in an extra period match.

Field goals by Ray Dorsey, Tom Profy, and Joe Wooley and a foul by Jobby Dugan decided the game for the radiomen. These all scored points in the extra period while Steve Florito and Peterpaul accounted for the Warders' points.

At the regulation game time, the score stood 20-20 and it ended this way when Tom Profy and Danny Pico scored double-deckers within eighteen seconds. The Profy fans thought the game was over when Profy's shot sunk into the net but in the last play of the game, Pico scored from side court to even the count.

The Warders had to fight an uphill battle to erase a large Profy lead built in the first quarter when the Mill Streeters with Ray Dorsey leading the attack scored 14 points while holding Fifth Ward to 5.

The Fifth Ward defense tightened here and in the following two periods, Profy's was held to six points while the Red and White dropped in 15, deadlocking the score at 20-20 at the third period. Both teams scored six points in the final session while the Profymen outscored their foes in the overtime session.

Leading the winners' attack was the colored Ray Dorsey who dropped in seven fielders to account for 14 points. Defensively Teddy Sak was outstanding while Tom Profy was the "money" player with his field goals at the crucial point of the game.

Steve Florito and Pico were the leaders for the losers with Florito excelling both offensively and on the defense.

BRISTOL FACES TART AR IN STRONG "CONSHY" QUINTET THEY MEET TONIGHT

By Jack Gill

Bristol High School, currently leading the Lower Bucks County scholastic basketball league, steps out of local competition tonight by travelling to Conshohocken to face the Golden Bears. It will be the most arduous venture of the season thus far for the Cardinal and Grey passers.

West Conshohocken came up fast with a barrage of last quarter baskets to down the locals in their first game here by a 27 to 20 count. The same West Conshohocken outfit that reached the Palestra in P. I. A. A. tournament play last year succumbed to their inter-borough rivals, Conshohocken, by a 31 to 20 tally last Friday. Bristol, undoubtedly, will be in for a busy evening.

Gripping over the 40 to 39 decision tallied over Fallsington last week.

Fallsington, endeavoring to rebound from last week's Bristol defeat, tackles Allentown, New Jersey, in a Delaware Valley Conference fray. Unbeaten in the Penn-Jersey loop, Doheny's forces will be out to continue their victory streak in that league.

Borough Council Approves Revised Budget, 15 To 3

communities were called taxless communities because they got sufficient revenue to operate those communities from income from some municipally operated utility. "Why can't we do the same thing?" was the question he asked.

Councilman Roche said that the reason the Water Department had made money was because the Water Committee had been on the job. Approximately $30,000 was collected in delinquent water rents.

As a further argument for maintaining the 1941 tax rate Councilman Spring called attention to the possibility that there would be an increase in the assessed valuation of the Borough due to the number of new houses being erected and others which it is proposed to erect.

Finally Mr. Spring made a motion to change the figures in the proposed budget whereby $40,000 instead of $25,000 will be taken from the funds of the water department and used for the general expenses of the borough, thus permitting the tax rate to remain at 11 mills, the same as in 1941. This will not make it necessary to cut any of the estimated expenditures which have been increased over those of last year due to general conditions and the existing emergency.

Councilman Fine contended that the reason Council has been able to get by on such a low tax rate was because they have just been going on "thin ice."

When the vote was polled on Mr. Spring's motion it was carried by 15 to 3. Winter, Fine and Wisner voted against the motion while Wagner, Spring, Warner, Myers, Vandegriff, Mitchener, Foster, Roche, Mulligan, Clark, Galzerano, Fry, Pearson, Conklin and Rathke favored it.

The budget will now be on view in the office of Secretary, William J. Leferts, for 15 days after which it will come up before Council at the next regular meeting for final adoption.

A comparison showing the appropriations in the present budget with those of last year will be found elsewhere in this issue.

Councilman Clark asked if the Philadelphia Electric Co. paid tax on the company's poles within the borough. The matter was referred to the borough solicitor in conjunction with John S. Roberts, Jr., for investigation.

Previous to the assembling of Council the following were sworn in as they were elected to office in November: Dr. J. Fred Wagner, Louis C. Spring, William H. Warner, Joseph H. Foster, Dennis Roche, Evan B. Vandegriff, Harold Mitchener, Thomas C. Clark, Louis Galzerano, Charles G. Rathke, William H. Pearson, and William H. Fine. They selected the same desks as they occupied previously.

Dr. J. Fred Wagner was re-elected president, William H. Leferts, secretary and treasurer; Howard J. James, Esq., borough solicitor; John S. Roberts, Jr., borough engineer, surveyor and building inspector.

Dr. Wagner expressed his appreciation to the councilmen for their courtesy in re-electing him president and he said that he hoped to fulfill the duties of the office in the future as he had tried to do in the past. He said that he appreciated the co-operation which the members of council had given him in conducting the affairs of the borough.

President Wagner announced that the same committees as had served during the past two years would be re-named for the ensuing two years.

Monthly report of the Police Committee showed 15 arrests made by officers during December. Two were discharged, two fined, six held for court and five committed to jail. The radio car answered 100 calls during the month. One hundred and thirty-one lodgers were sheltered, one door found unlocked, five were fined for parking and two were discharged. Seven incandescent lights were reported out.

The annual report of the Police Committee was read, received and filed and ordered to be made a part of the borough year book.

Council confirmed the election of Clifford Hagerman as chief of the Bristol Consolidated Fire Department, Joseph Buck, first assistant chief; Livingston Joyce as second assistant chief, for terms of two years each.

Request was made for a permit to erect a sign in front of 409 Mill street and 322 Mill street. Both requests were referred to street and highway committee with power to act.

James L. Callahan was re-appointed as a member of the Board of Health for a period of five years from January 1, 1942.

Sewing project reported distributing 2,524 garments.

Councilman Galzerano complained about not having been advised of meetings of the fire committee.

William H. Warner presented two bids which his committee had received for the collection of ashes and rubbish and said that the committee had to advertise an additional week before receiving these bids. John Lesnevec, Bristol R. D. No. 2, bid $5,340 a year, while Albert Paul bid $4,750. The Paul bid was recommended by the committee and approved by Council.

The Rohm & Haas Company asked Council to vacate for the war emergency the right of way over a roadway near some of the principal buildings of the Company to the Bristol sewage disposal plant. The request was made so as to afford the Rohm & Haas Company an opportunity to better protect their buildings by extending the fence line. The request was granted upon the recommendation of Burgess Anderson.

A petition signed by 18 persons was presented by Councilman Galzerano requesting the withdrawal of the parking ban on Pond street. Mr. Galzerano informed Council that the petition was brought to him by "one of the Passante boys." The request was refused.

A number of the Councilmen stated that the ordinance was not being obeyed in the vicinity of Pond St. and Lincoln Ave., and that the matter should be checked by the police. One councilman reported that at four o'clock yesterday afternoon he saw a truck and five cars parked in the vicinity of Pond street and Lincoln avenue.

At the suggestion of Councilman Galzerano Council ordered that the police be instructed to prohibit parking between the building line and the edge of the Highway from Mulberry street to Mill street. The situation in that section opposite the A&P Super Market is said to be dangerous.

EFFECT OF UNDER-INFLATION ON MILEAGE LIFE OF TIRES

*Recommended Air Pressures vary according to the size of tire and weight of car. 30 lbs. is used for illustrative purposes.

Underinflated tires are responsible for more wasted tread rubber than is any other single cause. To assist motorists in conservation of rubber for national defense needs, tire development engineers of The Firestone Tire & Rubber Company have compiled the above data to show that maximum wear can only be assured when tires are kept properly inflated at all times. If a tire with 30 pounds of recommended pressure is run at 27 pounds pressure (10 per cent underinflation), almost one-fourth of normal tread mileage is sacrificed. A tire that is 9 pounds under-inflated wastes one-half of the tread rubber.
